G: I'm not sure if he will understand my English. And I become very nervous when I speak to foreigners.
B: You speak English well. You should try it.
Q: Why doesn't the girl invite Nick by herself?
14. M: Wow! I've never tasted any chocolate cookies like these. Where did you get them?
W: I didn't buy them. In fact, I learned to make them through the Net. I can teach you how to make this kind of cookies.
M: Really? How nice you are! I will try my best to make great cookies for you.
W: I believe you can because you've always been excellent at making snacks.
Q: What does the man want to know?
15. M: I was so unlucky that I was stopped by the police officer.

16. G: Dad, do I look attractive?
M: Of course you do, honey.
G: But I'm heavy. All my uniforms are too small for me.

G: I also have acne on my face.
M: It's common for teenagers. But if it gets any worse, we can go to the doctor.
G: All right.
Q: Which is true about the girl?
17. M: Mandy, the questions are too difficult for John to answer. After all, he is only three.
W: Don't worry about it. He is smart enough to answer them easily.
M: I don't think so.
Q: What are they talking about?
18. W: Do you know where the nearest restaurant is?
M: Sure. It is two blocks away from here and it's next to the supermarket.
W: Thank you. Can you tell me where to take the bus?
M: There's no bus stop here. You can walk there.
W: Okay. Thank you for your help.
Q: Where is the nearest restaurant?
