Grandpa's Pineapples

My grandpa lives in Tainan, so we visit him every month. This summer vacation, my parents, my sister, and I visited him and stayed there for one week.

We got to Grandpa's place at twelve. He welcomed us at the gate. Then we sat down and had lunch in the living room. Grandpa made lots of dishes for us. He also bought pineapples, my favorite fruit. We talked and laughed with Grandpa. We enjoyed Grandpa's dishes. Grandpa was very happy. We had a great afternoon together.

In the following days, we visited some old temples. Grandpa told us many old stories about the town. On the last day, we had to say goodbye. Grandpa put a basket of pineapples in our car. The sweet smell of the pineapples went all the way home with us. Grandpa loves us, and we love him, too.

30. What might the pineapples stand for in the reading?
- (A) Grandpa's dishes.
 - (B) Grandpa's old stories.
 - (C) Grandpa's love for the family.
 - (D) Grandpa's favorite fruit.

- (B) On a hot July day, some of the three million people who come to the park every year are watching one of the geysers erupt. Everyone is excited, but as they talk, laugh, and eat their ice cream, not many of them know that they are standing on top of an active volcano. Scientists have known for a long time that Yellowstone National Park is an active volcano. But the strangest thing is that until the 1960s, no one could find a volcano anywhere in the park. Then new photos taken by NASA showed that the whole park, 9,000 km², is a volcano!
- Volcanoes like Yellowstone are called "supervolcanoes" because they are so big and dangerous. There are about 11 of them, but none of them has erupted recently. The most recent one was 265,000 years ago in New Zealand. The last time Yellowstone volcano erupted was 640,000 years ago.
- What would happen if the Yellowstone volcano erupted again today? Here are some events from a timeline scientists believe.
- Day 1: In the Yellowstone National Park and the U.S.
- The cities of Denver and Salt Lake are destroyed, and 87,000 people would die.
- Week 1: In Europe
- The whole Europe will be covered by gray clouds. Summer will turn to winter.
- No European country will be able to grow food for four to five years.
- The next three months: Around the whole world
- 90% of sunlight will be blocked, and the temperatures will greatly drop.

31. What do we know from the reading?

- (A) Yellowstone National Park is an active volcano about 9,000 KM².
- (B) The last time Yellowstone volcano erupted was 64,000 years ago.
- (C) The supervolcanoes are big and dangerous, but they will never erupt.
- (D) If Yellowstone volcano erupts, European countries will become the best place to live.

32. Which is true if Yellowstone volcano erupts?

- (A) 90% of (A), (B), and (D) will be destroyed on the first day.
- (B) (D) will become winter in three months.
- (C) (E) will be covered by gray clouds for a week.
- (D) The influence will go from (A) → (B) → (C) → (D) → (E).

(C) There is a lot of plastic trash in our oceans. It is a big problem. Plastic is really harmful to fish, seabirds and marine mammals. Scientists predicts that there will be more plastic than fish in the ocean before 2050. However, a young boy, Boyan Slat at 16 years of age from the Netherlands, saw more plastic bags than fish when he's diving in Greece. He came up with a big plan to tackle all this ocean garbage. It led him to study the plastic pollution problem for a school project. And then he dropped out school and found the Ocean Cleanup. Two years later, Boyan turned 18. In 2012, Boyan Slat held a TEDx talk about how to ride the world's oceans of plastic using technology and his plan to clean up all the floating plastic in the Great Pacific Garbage Patch. It's a section of the ocean that holds almost 2 trillion pieces of plastic and covers 38 times the size of Taiwan!

On September 8, 2018, there were more than 70 engineers and scientists at Boyan's company. The Ocean Cleanup sent the plastic collection into the Pacific Ocean. It's a long floating tube. Its power comes from the wind, waves, and ocean's current. When the tube moves through the ocean, it naturally forms a letter U shape, and slowly takes the floating plastic with it. And a boat will round up the trash and take it to shore to recycle it. They designed the tube without any nets to hurt fish, sea turtles, and marine mammals. What's more, his team always planned to do something valuable with the plastic they clean up. They create one durable new product – The Cleanup Sunglasses. Later they will create more products from the wasting plastic and make money for his plan. We are not sure how much it will help clean up the oceans' plastic, so it's still important to do our part and reduce the plastic we are using in our daily lives.
