A Good Tip

For people in some jobs, tips are very important. Some people use "tipping" as a way of saying "thank you" for good services. A waiter, for example, can often make more money in tips than in his salary. Doormen and parking lot attendants also often get large tips. Some people even pay a hotel in London to work as doormen.

In some restaurants, the waiters do not get high salary. Therefore, the waiters hope to get large tips. They do everything they can to encourage their customers to give them good tips.

However, some customers don't like giving waiters tips. Sometimes this is because they are not happy about the bad services, and sometimes it is just because they do not have enough money.

Once, one customer looked at his bill and said to the waiter, "I'm sorry, but I can't give you a tip. I have only enough money to pay this bill."

The waiter wanted to get a tip very much, so he took the bill and said, "Let me add up the bill again, sir. I might make a mistake."

Summer is coming. Some students go on vacation; others choose to spend the entire summer studying. Last year, I decided to do something different. I went on a study tour in New Zealand.

We had English classes in the morning and the teachers brought us to visit some interesting places in the afternoon. I saw a sheep-shaving show for the first time. But the best part of the trip was that I stayed with a local family. My host mother was a bus driver. Her husband died two years ago. She has two children, John and Nancy. She is a good mother, and she asks her children to share the housework. I don't do housework in Taiwan because I'm always too busy studying. After school, I have to go to cram school. When I get home, it is often past 10 o'clock, and it's time for bed. But things are different in New Zealand. John and Nancy don't have classes after 3:00 p.m. They help their mother cook dinner and clean the house. I think it is good to do something for the family. Maybe I should do the same things.

In 1943, CB. Farrel was walking in Scotland. He said he saw a huge monster in a lake! Many people think that Farrel saw the Loch Ness Monster.

In 1951, Eric Shipton was on Mount Everest. Shipton saw very large footprints in the snow. They were much bigger than a person's footprints. Some people say that the footprints belonged to a yeti.

The Loch Ness Monster looks like a dinosaur. It lives in a lake in Scotland. Yetis are giants that live in the mountains. These are the world's two most famous monsters.

Another famous monster is the chupacabra. Chupacabras are green. They have long tails. They attack farm animals and drink their blood!

Are yetis, chupacabras and the Loch Ness Monster real? The answer is most likely "no". Many people look for Loch Ness Monster, but nobody can find it. What about the footprints on Mount Everest? When the snow on Mount Everest melted, it changed the footprints and made them bigger. Finally, why don't we have clear pictures of these monsters?

However, people are still looking for monsters. For now, the world is still waiting for proof.
