A.

Cindy: What are you reading?

Melody: A book about paintings. Look at this. What a cute painting!

Cindy: Well... I only see lines and colors. What's the name of the painting?

Melody: Woman with a Beautiful Hat, Star.

Cindy: But I don't see a woman.

Melody: Here. The red color is her body, and these black lines are her hat. The woman is walking. The two black lines are her legs.

Cindy: Is it an abstract painting?

Melody: Yeah. In these paintings, lines and colors stand for real things. Abstract paintings are very different from paintings before the year 1900, like the Mona Lisa. Which do you like, Woman with a Beautiful Hat, Star or the Mona Lisa?

Cindy: The Mona Lisa. That's for sure.

Melody: I'm not like you. I love abstract paintings.
