Thomas Suarez is a 12-year-old schoolboy. He is now in the 6th grade at a middle school in Los Angeles. While most children of Thomas' age are playing basketball or watching the Disney Channel, he's creating apps and giving talks at TED.

Thomas is not even old enough to have a Facebook account, but he has been strongly interested in computers and technology since before kindergarten. He's built his own company, Carrot Corp, and has made two popular apps that are now sold in the App Store.

"A lot of kids these days like to play games, but now they want to make them," he says. "And it's difficult because not many kids know where to go to find out how to make a program. And not many parents have written apps." So Thomas starts an App Club at school. Any student can come to learn to design an app. He says he is inspired by Steve Jobs.

Do you often see ants? If the weather is warm, you may see them under the stones. If it is cold, many ants will be in their house under the ground.

Ants are the insects that live in groups, build nests, have different classes, and socially divide. Four different types of ants are the queen ant, male ants, worker ants, and soldier ants. Each family of ants has a queen ant. She doesn't work at all. The main job of her is laying eggs. Male ants' job is to mate with the queen. After that, they die. Most of the ants are workers. They have to look for food and take care of the young ants. The main job of the soldier ants is to protect the safety of the group. When a war breaks between two groups, the soldiers will bravely go up and fight. Except male ants, the others are female.

There are many kinds of ants in America. One kind of these is very strong. They can kill and eat elephants. They move in groups. They eat all the animals they meet while moving on their way. When these ants come near, people leave their homes.

Once, there was an older man, who was completely broke, living in a small house. He had to live on a $105-a-month social security check.

At 56 years of age, he decided things had to change. So he thought about what he had to offer. His friends thought highly of his chicken recipe. He decided that this was his best shot at making a change.

He left Kentucky and traveled to different states to try to sell his recipe. He told restaurant owners that he had a mouth watering chicken recipe. He offered the recipe to them for free, just asking for a small percentage on the items sold. Sounds like a good deal, right?

Unfortunately, not to most of the restaurants. He heard "No" over 1,000 times, but he didn't give up. He believed his chicken recipe was something special. He got rejected 1,009 times before he heard his first yes.

With that one success, the old man changed the way Americans eat chicken. Kentucky Fried Chicken, popularly known as KFC, was born. The old man was Colonel Harland Sanders, who was an American businessman, best known for founding the fast food chicken restaurant chain Kentucky Fried Chicken. His name and image are still symbols of KFC now.
